Agreement between Publisher, Editor and Contributor for the publication of a Work by Cambridge Scholars Publishing

Cambridge Scholars Publishing (hereafter Publisher) has agreed to publish your contribution as part of a collection of essays. The agreement is contingent upon the fulfilment of a number of requirements listed below.

1. The contributor warrants that the contribution is original, that it is not in any way libellous or unlawful in the United Kingdom, that it does not infringe any copyright or other proprietary right. The contributor further warrants that she or he holds the rights to publish and sell the work in traditional formats including hardback and paperback but also as e-books.

2. By submitting the essay, the Contributor agrees to transfer the rights to publish and sell the work in any binding or medium to Publisher. These rights are governed by a contract between the editor of the work and Publisher.

3. The Contributor warrants that the contribution has not been published elsewhere, and that if it is, both the Editor and Publisher must be notified and their consent must be obtained before submission of the contribution to the Editor.

4. By submitting the work, the Contributor agrees to the Publisher's Contributor Copies policy by which the Contributor receives 40% off the Publisher's catalogue in exchange for their contribution. The details of this are available upon request from admin@cambridgescholars.com and will be provided directly when the work to which the Contributor had contributed has been printed.

5. By submitting the essay, the Contributor agrees to Publisher's author discount and postage policy in the event of any purchases from Publisher.

6. The Contributor agrees to make a reasonable effort to conform to Publisher's submission guidelines and to liaise with the volume editor to ensure that the requirements of these guidelines are met to a reasonable degree.

7. The Contributor retains the right to republish their contribution in any medium or binding, excluding open access, on the condition that appropriate reference is given to the original publication with Cambridge Scholars Publishing. A copy of this work must be supplied to Cambridge Scholars Publishing, and the address for such can be obtained upon request from admin@cambridgescholars.com.
